

Tasia Filippatos

SVP, Communications and Public Affairs

Disney Parks, Experiences
and Consumer Products

As senior vice president, Communications and Public Affairs, Tasia Filippatos provides communications leadership across all of Disney Parks, Experiences, and Consumer Products. In that capacity, she and her team develop and implement strategic programs that drive the segment's business objectives through a variety of channels including corporate communications and public relations, executive engagement, employee communications and community relations, corporate citizenship, and business-to-business communications.

Prior to her role at DPECP, Filippatos led communications and public affairs for Disney Consumer Products and Interactive Media. Filippatos has also served as vice president, Worldwide External Communications for Walt Disney Parks and Resorts. In that capacity, she oversaw external communications efforts for the division's theme park resorts around the world, as well as Disney Cruise Line and Adventures by Disney.

Prior to joining The Walt Disney Company in 2008, Filippatos served in a number of senior level government positions in Washington, D.C., including director of Public Affairs at the Department of Justice, deputy assistant secretary for Public Affairs at the Department of Homeland Security and as a spokesperson for the Department of the Treasury. She began her career as a litigation attorney.

Filippatos is an honors graduate of Claremont McKenna College and received her law degree from Georgetown University Law Center.