

George Kalogridis

President, Walt Disney World Resort

George A. Kalogridis serves as president of the Walt Disney World Resort. A veteran of Walt Disney Parks and Resorts, George oversees a workforce of 74,000 cast members at four theme parks and 26 resort hotels all located at the world's premier vacation destination. He currently serves on the boards of the Metro Orlando Economic Development Commission Governors Council, The Florida Council of 100, Out & Equal Workplace Advocates, Give Kids The World and onePULSE Foundation.

From 2009 to 2013, George served as president of the Disneyland Resort, where he led more than 25,000 cast members at the world-famous Disneyland Park, Disney California Adventure Park, the Disneyland Hotel, Disney's Grand Californian Hotel & Spa, the Paradise Pier Hotel and Downtown Disney.

George began his career at Walt Disney World in 1971 as a busboy at the Contemporary Resort. During his tenure, George has held numerous executive positions, gaining a breadth of experience from all aspects of the operation.

From 2006 until his appointment to Disneyland Resort, George served as chief operating officer for Disneyland Resort Paris and was responsible for leading the daily operations of the Resort's two theme parks, seven hotels and the Disney Village. During his tenure in Paris, George oversaw the highly successful 15th anniversary celebration of the resort. He also played an instrumental role in reorganizing the Resort's operations structure to help improve both Guest and Cast satisfaction.

Prior to his role in Paris, George served as senior vice president of Resort Operations for the Disneyland Resort, where he played a significant role in the first expansion of the resort – the opening of Disney California Adventure and Downtown Disney. In addition, he was responsible for the daily operations of both theme parks and three hotels, as well as Downtown Disney.

In addition to his leadership roles in both Paris and Anaheim, George served as vice president of Travel Operations at Walt Disney World in Orlando, where he implemented a new Customer Relationship Management (CRM) system that continues to serve as the foundation for how millions of Guests book their travel to Walt Disney World. George also served as vice president of EPCOT, where, in addition to overseeing park operations, he led the Millennium Celebration for The Walt Disney Company.

During his tenure as president of the Disneyland Resort, George was active in the community in California, serving on CHOC Children's Hospital Board of Directors, the Board of Directors of Children's HealthCare of California, the Out and Equal Board of Directors, California Travel and Tourism Commission, the Cal State University - Chancellor's Hospitality Industry Advisors Board, the University of California, Irvine Center for Global Leadership and UCI's Paul Merage School of Business Dean's Advisory Board.

George earned a bachelor's degree in sociology from the University of Central Florida in 1976.
